He charges her, too, with having committed adultery with one Dr. Stock, as well as with men unknown to him. Reception to a Pastor.

A delightful reception was tendered the Rev. C. H. Elliott, who is occupying Dr. Patch's pulpit during his absence, by the congregation of the Gunton Temple Memorial Presbyterian Church, 14th and R streets, last night. The following interesting program was rendered: Plano solo,
Mrs. General Eaton; solo, Miss Gow, accompanied by Miss Latham; recitation, Miss Zue Brockett; recitation, Mr. Harder;
after which refreshments were served.
There was a large attendance, and it was a most enjoyable occasion.

Guilty of Stealing.

Edward Hessig, a young man who has heretofore borne a good reputation, was tried in the Police Court yesterday for alleged theft, and the jury found him guilty of the charge. He is a church and lodge man and has many friends here. The young man is in the feed business, and it was charged that he stole two sacks of meal from the firm of W. M. Galt & Co., feed dealers. Hessig made a denial, but the jury returned a verdict of guilty, and a fine of $20 was imposed.

Plenty of Ice.

James Williams, a colored man, who works on an ice wagen, was given a trial in the Police Court vesterday on a charge of keeping a "speak-easy," although one witness declared that he could give an order in as loud a tone as he could in any saloon, and the order would be filled. It was admitted during the hearing that the witnesses against Williams were preju-diced because of a quarrel, but this did not cause the prosecutor to abandon the case, although he was surprised when he learned that the defendant had not been acquitted. Working on an ice wagon, James gathered small pieces of ice to take home with him, and at the time the raid was male, he had a plentiful supply of ice on hand. In the tub of ice the police found three dozen bottles of beer, which Williams claimed he was going to take on an excursion with him. The jury was unable to agree and him. The jury was unable to agree, and there may be another trial next week.

Bargains at McKnew's.

The reputation of Mr. William H. McKney of 933 Pennsylvania avenue is so extremely high, when the character of the ladies' goods and men's furnishings in which he deals is taken into consideration, that it is almost superfluous to mention it to the shop-ping population of Washington. In suits, skirts, capes, jackets, waists and the thousand and one other articles that enter into the apparel of a well-dressed woman, as well as in the equally diversified line of men's furnishings, Mr. McKnew always dis-plays the latest styles and the most striking nevelties from the best manufacturers. Regular Meeting of the Federation and Business Transacted.

Building Trades Council Meets-The Beer Boycott and Other . Important Matters.

The regular weekly meeting of the Federation of Labor was held last evening. There were thirty-seven organizations represented. President James F. McHugh presided Credentials to fill a vacancy were received from Cigar Makers' Union No. 110, and for a full set of delegates from the Plumbers' Union. The committee appointed to attempt a settlement with the brewers' combine reagreement to submit at the next meeting of the federation.

A committee of firemen representing the city fire department were announced, and stated that they were detailed by the chief engineer to visit the old organization of the Federation of Labor in the interest of the firemen's excursion for the benefit of the families of the firemen who lost their lives n the discharge of their duty at the recent ire. On motion an appropriation of $10 was made with which to purchase twenty tickets, and the tickets were returned to the committee for the purpose of again selling them for the benefit of the firemen's

The contract committee made a report in reference to the question of the alleged employment of non-union men by the Metropolitan Railway Company on the building which they are having erected near Lincoln Park, and stated that the men at work on the structure who are in the employ of the railroad company were members of organized labor societies, and that those employed by the contractor

In reference to a communication sent to those who are in charge of the Potomac flats, the same committee reported that no reply had as yet been received.

Delegate Blake reported that he had called on Mr. S. H. Bell, who has charge of matters connected with the construction of the Hall of History of the American University, in order to see if arrangements can be made to have the granite to be used in the building cut here. Mr. Bell was too busy when Mr. Blake called, the latter said, to talk over the matter, and he referred Mr. Biake to Dr. Beiler, and the former will see Dr. Beiler as soon as the latter returns from New as soon as the latter returns from New York.

A letter was read from Mr. Charles E. Bechtold, national secretary of the Na-tional Union of the United Brewery Work-men of the United States, protesting against the lifting of the boycott from the brewers' combine of this District until a settlement is reached recognizing Gam-brinus Assembly. The secretary was in-structed to reply to the communication and state the true facts in reference to the beer trouble.

Building Trades.

There was a full attendance of representatives of the building trades at the meeting last evening of the Building Trades Council. President William Silver presided and Mr. J. M. Boyce was secretary. Delegates to fill vacancies were admitted from the Steamfitters' Union. The grievance committee reported that attention had been given by them to the employment of non-union painters on the National Guard Armory, and that the promise had been given by those having charge of the work that none but union painters would be employed in future.

In the case of a man who is having a row of eleven houses erected by non-union labor the committee reported that the owner reused to employ other than non-union labor and the matter was referred to all local or ganizations, with the recommendation that they refuse to purchase goods from the

It was also reported that several houses were being constructed by a real estate firm by non-union labor, and a committee was appointed to see the interested parties and secure the work, if possible, for union workmen.

The report on this work brought to the consideration of the council the question of the employment by real estate agents and dealers of non-union labor on the repair and construction of their work, and it was stated that a large percentage of prompt-paying tenants belonging to trade organi-zations were the patrons of these firms, and it was thought necessary to refer the mat-ter to the Central Labor Union, and through that body to all the locals affiliated therewith, with the request that the matter be brought to the attention of the real estate firms. An effort will, it is understood, be made to secure this work for organized workmen. It was developed that there is a very strong sentiment among the mem-bers of the unions connected with the Building Trades Council favorable to confining the tenant patronage in the future to those dealers and landlords who employ union labor.

A special committee was appointed to co-operate with the Central Labor Union comoperate with the Central Labor Union com-mittee to confer with several employing steamfitters in a final effort to adjust the differences existing between them and the members of the Steamfitters' Union. The steamfitters will, it was stated, present their ultimatum, and if no agreement satis-factory to the steamfitters can be reached, the firms will be placed on the unfair list, and all the assistance rossible will be give and all the assistance possible will be giv-en the steamfitters by every organization of labor in the District.

of labor in the District.

The council by a unanimous vote indersed the statement made by the Central Labor Union, and published in yesterday's Star, regarding the attitude of that body in the beer boycott.

Carpenters' Union, No. 1, having refused to co-operate with the other trades represented in the council, was suspended, whereupon the delegates of that body retired.

AS A HOTEL.

Plans of the Directors of the Central Union Mission.

The board of directors of the Central Union Mission have completed their program to be observed during the session of the Christian Endeavor convention. There will be two meetings daily, at each of which the wagons will be used, and from which there will be speaking by prominent delegates to the convention. The wagons will be stationed near or on the White Lot. and will, it is believed, prove centers of attraction to persons who, by reason of the great crowds, will be unable to get into the

The wagons will also be used each evening for meetings, to be conducted by lead-ing Christian workers, but on these occasions they will, it is expected, be located for the time being in the slums of the city. The management of the mission expects to entertain between 300 and 400 delegates and visitors while the convention is in progress, and in order to do so properly they are having the entire building remodeled, re lovated and put in order generally. Many improvements have been added, and nothing that will conduce to the pleasure or comfort of their prospective guests will be left unattended to.

As is well known to readers of The Star, the fine large headquarters of the mission was originally constructed for and was long conducted as a hotel, and it is well adapted for the entertsinment of a large number of guests. The building is supplied with two broad stairways in the interior and two well-built fire escapes on the C street front. The culinary depart-ment will be in charge of Mr. J. S. Duvall, who for many years managed a hotel. The dining room will be kept cool and clean, and the bill of fare will be unexcelled by any in the city.

Double Tragedy Today on the Deadly Surface Tracks.

TWO YOUNG BOYS KILLED

Walking the B. and O. Ties When Struck by an Express.

CONFLICTING STORIES

Two little boys, Willie Jenkins and Freddie Smith, met instant death on the surported that they hoped to have terms of face tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad near the Florida avenue crossing on the Washington branch of the road, about 1 o'clock today, and their little bod ies are side by side on the table in the litafter they were admitted the chairman the brick structure called the morgue. The little fellows were companions, Jenkins being eight years old, and his companion one year his junior. They lived at the home of their parents, in Brewer's court northeast, between 6th and 7th and G and H streets. Willie Jenkins had attended the Taylor, school until his older brother got sick with the measles, and then he was quarantined. He did not return to school because it was so near the close of the session, and this morning he started out to go to Trinidad. The boys were barefooted and were dressed in cool summer costumes, and as their companions said, they were going out for "bloodles" (frogs) and cherries. Some older boys had warned them to remain at home, but they did not heed the warning.

The Tragedy. After leaving their homes the boys did not hurry, for the accident happened more than an hour after they had started away Just under what circumstances the acci dent happened witnesses differ. It is certain that they died so suddenly that they never realized how they were hurt. One version of the affair is that they were walking the ties across a culvert and when they heard a train coming from either di-rection they were afraid to jump the short distance, and in order to save themselves as they supposed, they stepped to one side and were struck.

It is thought that the train struck Jen kins and knocked him against his compan-ion with such force that he had his skull crushed by coming in contact with the ground, for although Smith's skull is se verely crushed, the scalp is not cut. The front of Jenkins' skull is crushed in, and his brains were scattered about on the rocks beside the tracks.

An incoming Baltimore express train did the damage, and when the train was stopped the ghastly sight was witnessed by the passengers, among them being a number of officials of the city of Balti more. The trainmen had an idea that they could not remove the bodies without ar order from the coroner, and so the bodies were left there beside the tracks until the police patrol wagon from the ninth pre the morgue. When the police officers reached the scene of the double killing, the ootprints of the boys, made from walking in the mud, were visible on the ties. The bodies all covered with blood lay in the culvert, and the sight was a heartrending

It is said that the engineer of the train blew his whistle and rang his bell just be-fore reaching the point where the accident happened, but the accident could not have been avoided by him. The trainmen were very much surprised when they picked up the bodies to find that they were not hor-ribly mangled in addition to having their skulls so badly crushed.

AN ALEXANDRIA TRAGEDY

Reverdy J. Daingerfield Takes His Own

Alexandria was thrown into a state of excitement this morning, when it was learned that Mr. Reverdy J. Daingerfield, one of its best-known citizens, had committed suicide at his residence, corner of Prince and Columbus streets, shooting himself through the head with a revolver For some weeks past Mr. Daingerfield has been in rather a depressed condition. Yesterday, however, he seemed to be in better spirits, and went to his farm, near the city, where he made all of his preparations to begin harvesting his wheat crop this morning. Last night he seemed to be in his usual spirits, and retired early.

Shortly after 6 o'clock this morning he arose and walked to the bath room, which is only a short distance from his own room, and in a few seconds the report of a pistol was heard. His wife hastened to the bath room, where she found her husband lying prostrate upon the floor with a pistol in his hand, and his head covered with in his hand, and his head covered with blood. Her screams soon aroused the house blood. Her screams soon aroused the household, and in a few seconds Drs. Smith and Purvis were summoned, but they had hardly arrived upon the scene before he breathed his last. Upon examination it was found that the bullet, which was a 32-cailber, entered the head just back of the right ear and passed through the brain and lodged over the left eve

Mr. Daingerfield was a son of the late
Henry Daingerfield, and was in the fortyfifth year of his age. He had never been engaged in any active business, but devoted his attention to his farming operations. He had always been a favorite with his associates, who are composed of the best people of the city. He was fond of gunning and field sports, and had a large number of friends all over the country, who will be as much grieved at his death as those here at home. He leaves a widow and four children, one son and three daughters. His wife was Miss Effie Nicholson of Washirgton, who is a neice of the late Miss Car-roll of Duddington. No arrangements for the funeral have yet been made.

AFFAIRS IN GEORGETOWN

Building Operations Are Extremely Active Just Now.

Many New Structures in Contemplation-To Be Ordained-Local Notes of General Interest.

Within the past month building operations have enjoyed as boom. A number of new buildings are in course of erection many repairs being made to old ones, and there is a general prospect that this year will be extremely favorable to Georgetown. One thing particularly noticeable is the gradual increase of dwellings between Georgetown and Tenleytown, leading to the belief that a few more decades will result in the building up of the entire area.

Mr. C. H. Marshall is erecting a pretty three-story brick dwelling at 2710 P street, while at 2712 P street Mrs. Hamilton is making quite an improvement. Mr. John W. Thompson is erecting a building on the Tenleytown road near the Woodley Lane road. Mr. A. C. Barnett is having erected a two-story brick dwelling at 2534 P street, and Mr. James Stewart is erecting a twostory frame dwelling on the Conduit road just west of town. Mr. W. W. Anderson is having built in the rear of lot 243, square 1260, just back of Q street, a two-story brick stable, while Mr. N. Hershler is erecting a frame stable in the rear of his property in Cleveland Park. Mr. Leonard Gentz is making general repairs to his residence on the Grant road. Mr. W. H. Tenney is improving his mill property on Water street, and Mr. Louis Hoffenmair is making an improvement on the court ride of Water improvement on the south side of Water street at the foot of 33d street. Mr. J. F Burch is improving the entrance of 3401 O street, while Mr. Robert Burrows is rebuild-ing on his place near Tenleytown.

To Be Ordained. Mr. Martin O'Donoghue, a well-known young man of Georgetown, who for some ime past has been studying for the priesthood, will be ordained as a minister of the gospel Friday morning. The ordination ceremonies will be held at the cathedral in Baltimore, commencing at 8 o'clock in the morning, Cardinal Gibbons being present at the ceremonies. Quite a number of peo-ple from this place will attend the services. The first mass of the newly created priest will be offered at Trinity Church on Sun-day morning, the church which he has at-tended all his life. He will be the celebrant at solemn high mass at 10:30 o'clock, and without a doubt the large edifice will be crowded. The sermon at the mass will be delivered by Rev. J. Haven Richards, rector of Georgetown University. Notes.

Fortieth Birthday.

The week's celebration of the fortieth birthday of the Fifth Baptist Church was continued last evening, with Rev. Dr. J. J. Muir as the speaker. Mr. Muir occupied a place on the platform with Rev. C. C. Meador, the pastor of the church since its birth, and a large number of the congregation were in attendance. The church and pulpit were handsomely decorated with flowers and palms. Dr. Muir spoke on the subject of missions, and said that the only place in the world where missionaries were refused entrance was a little land which went under the name of Thibet, but which, he thought, would also be thrown open in short while to the emissaries of the true religion. After Dr. Muir had concluded the finance committee, through the treasu-rer, Mr. Bailey, rendered its report. Rev. Dr. C. A. Stakely will be the speaker at this evening's meeting.

Utah Law Suffers by a Decision To-Judge Miller dealt the Utah law a serious blow today, and hereafter the police will experience considerable difficulty in sustaining charges of fornication and adultery under the law. Lawyer Joseph Shillington attacked the law in a case in court today, in which a white man and colored woman were charged with fornication. The man, who gave his name as Walter Green, but whose name is said to be Woodson, was Mary Thompson. They had been arrested in the office of a Georgetown patent attorney, where Police-men Ward and Passeno found them last night. In the information filed against them it was not alleged that they were un-married. There was no evidence in the case to show whether or not they were married, and Mr. Shillington argued that married, and Mr. Shinington argued such proof was necessary.

Mr. Mullowny was not surprised at the point being raised, and said he realized that in many cases he would be unable to prove the question of marriage.

Judge Miller held that the information was defective, in that it falled to set out the question of marriage, and the information was thereupon quashed. This necessi-tated the release of the defendants. The man denied the charge, but several wit-nesses told the court of the circumstances under which they were arrested.

Indicted Oleomargarine Dealers in Court This Morning. Those parties indicted for violating the oleomargarine laws who had not previously pleaded to the indictments, some eighteen of them, were arraigned before Judge Cole in Criminal Court No. 1 this morning. Mr. Davis explained that as the Court of Appeals has sustaired the laws, the de murrers or motions to quash would of course te overruled. But in view of the ccurse te overruled. But in view of the fact that his associate, Mr. Jere M. Wilson, will be engaged in the Holt will case for several days yet, he asked that the trials go over until the last of the present

What Causes Pimples?

Clogging of the nores or mouths of glands with sebum or ofly matter.

The plug of sebum in the center of the pimple is called a blackhead, grub or comedone. Nature will not allow the clogging of the por to continue long, bence, Inflammation, pain, swelling and redness; later pus or matter forms, breaks or is opened, the plug omes out and the pore is once more free. There are thousands of these pores in the face alone, any one of which is liable to become clogged by neglect or disease. What Cures Pimples? The only reliable preventive and cure, Cuticura Soap.

It contains a mild proportion of CUTICURA, the great skin cure, which enables it to dissolve the sebaceous or oily matter as it forms at the mouth of the pores.

This is the secret of its wonderful success. It stimulates the sluggish glands and tubes nealthy activity, reduces inflammation, soothes and heals irritated and roughened surfaces, and restores the skin to its original purity.

For bad complexion, redness, roughness, yellow oily, mothy skin, red, rough hands and shapeless nails, dry, thin and falling hair, scaly and irritated scalps and simple baby blemishes it is wonderful. Sale greater than the combined sales of all other skin and complexion soaps.

Sold throughout the world. Price, 25c. POT-TER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Sole Props., Boston, Mass.
